JOURNAL

Foreword

The Food Technology and Halal Science (FTHS) aims to bring together the results of fundamental and applied research into healthy foods, biologically active and Halal food ingredients.

The Journal is centered in the specific area at the boundaries among food technology, nutrition, health and halal welcoming papers having a good interdisciplinary approach. The journal will cover the fields of plant bioactives; dietary fibre, probiotics; functional lipids; bioactive peptides; vitamins, minerals and botanicals and other dietary supplements. Nutritional, halal and technological aspects related to the development of foods and beverages are of core interest to the journal. Experimental works dealing with food digestion, bioavailability of food bioactives and on the mechanisms by which foods and their components are able to modulate physiological parameters connected with disease prevention are of particular interest as well as those dealing with personalized nutrition and nutritional needs in pathological subjects.

Papers will cover topics such as new food bioactives; efficacy and safety of bioactive compounds, and other healthy food constituents using genomic, chemical and biochemical technologies.

The following papers are not within the scope of the Journal: Papers dealing with pure compounds having no connection with food
